

Britain-Nepal Academic Council and the DelPHE Link between UK, Nepal & Bangladesh

Workshop: Education in Nepal

September 11th, 2008

Khalili Lecture Theatre,
SOAS
Thornhaugh St
Russell Square
London WC1E 0XG

2 p.m. Welcome and introduction:

‘Current educational research issues in Nepal: The work of CERID’

Prof. Hridaya R. Bajracharya (CERID, TU)

2.50 – 3.40 p.m.

‘The challenges of teaching gender in Nepal: Findings from the DelPHE project’

Prof. Harindar Thapaliya (Central Department of Home Science and Women's Studies, Padma Kanya Campus, TU) & Dr Kay Standing (Liverpool John Moores University)

3.40 – 4.10 p.m. tea break

4.10 – 5 p.m.

‘Challenges of doing action research in Nepal: Reflections from supporting a non-formal education programme in the Sikles sector of the ACAP Nepal’

Dr Sara Parker (Liverpool John Moores University) & Kiran Bohara

5 – 5.50 p.m.

‘Reflections on Bhutanese refugee children's learning through their social and political participation’

Roz Evans (Oxford)

6.30: Dinner at Great Nepalese Restaurant

DEVELOPMENT PARTNERSHIPS
IN HIGHER EDUCATION

Liverpool John Moores University, Tribhuvan University (CERID & Women's Studies Programme of CDHSWS, Padma Kanya Campus) and Dhaka University (Department of Women & Gender Studies) have a DelPHE link focusing on embedding gender into the HE curriculum and developing research in the area of gender, poverty, education and health. A further aim of this programme is to develop links with key stakeholders working in the field of Gender & Development and create a network of interested parties.